

LOVE ASSESSMENT

www.IamLoveBuilders.com

Welcome to the LOVE Personality Assessment. This tool was created to help you discover your Primary LOVE personality. There is no right or wrong answer but once you discover your own unique LOVE personality everything changes for the better.

Instructions – Below are 10 rows of boxes. Using the numbering system of 1 – 6 read each statement then put a number in the box, for that statement. Put a 6 in the statement you like the BEST, then a 1 in the statement you like the LEAST. Fill in the other boxes based upon your feelings about that statement. YOU CAN ONLY USE THE SAME NUMBER ONCE PER ROW. Repeat this process for each Row.

Totals	Green	Brown	Blue	Red	Yellow	Purple

Commander: You are a natural leader but that can lead to real problems for you if you do not temper your natural leadership skills with a willingness to listen and follow the advice of others from time to time.

- Think about delegating some of your leadership responsibilities.
- Think about seeing things from another's perspective.
- Think about asking for input from the team and listening to their ideas.
- Think about ways to bring the team together and lead by example.

Giver: You have a natural servant heart and love to see people happy. BUT be careful because your tendency to serve others could leave you with a lot of un-fulfilled needs. Do not be afraid to say NO.

- Think about setting boundaries with how much you will do for others.
- Think about asking for help quicker.
- Think about teaching others to do for themselves.
- Think about being less available.

Doer: You are a natural at working, creating systems and getting things done. But there never seems to be enough time in your day. You need to learn how to relax and ask for help.

- Think about delegating the work.
- Think about setting aside more time to just relax.
- Think about letting others come up with solutions.
- Think about staying in conversations longer.

Analyzers: You are naturally organized and focused. But sometimes the rest of the world is not.

- Think about sharing your feelings quicker even though you may not have the perfect words.
- Think about listening more and relaxing.
- Think about your tone when talking to others.
- Think about asking others for their thoughts more often.

Socializer: You have a natural ability to connect with others and get them talking. But not everyone feels comfortable sharing their thoughts.

- Think about setting boundaries on how much you ask others to share.
- Think about spending more time listening and less time talking.
- Think about your life balance and commitments.
- Think about following through with the commitments you make.

Nurturer: You have a natural heart and encouragement for others and love to see people cared for. BUT be careful because your tendency to protect others could leave you vulnerable as well. Everyone deserves to be helped but you may not be equipped to help everyone.

- Think about setting boundaries with how much and whom you help.
- Think about referring them to better help quicker.
- Think about teaching others to help themselves.
- Think about how to develop their skills.
